

Privacy Policy

Our Privacy Policy is to highlight how data you have supplied to us is used and stored.

ET Holdings T/A Evans Transport Ltd & John Seymour Transport gather, process and retain various information about businesses and individuals where we have a statutory, contractual or legitimate obligation or interest.

Examples of the data we may hold includes but is not limited to:

- Contact details including: names, company names, addresses, telephone numbers and email addresses
- Bank Details of account holders and employees
- Other information given to us, which is needed to process payment, by employees and account holders

The information is collected and store for the following reasons:

1. To fulfil any contractual obligations
2. To provide a service cost when an enquiry has been made
3. To keep accurate records
4. Credit application checks
5. Carry out accounting procedures, processing orders and invoices, and other administrative duties

All information held by ET Holdings is kept securely. There are procedures in place to keep paper and digital data protected. All information is only kept for as long as it is needed. We may share data with other organisations within our group, this may include but is not limited to; payment processing, advertising and marketing. Some basic information may be passed on such as addresses and names due subcontracting facilities in the delivery of goods. We will ensure when this happens that your data is handled safely and securely.

Under the General data protection regulation and the data protection act, you have the right to request to rectify, erase, restrict or access any of your personal data unless another governing law restricts this. When consensual data has been given, it can be withdrawn at anytime. However, all data which has been processed before consent has been withdrawn will be legally binding. This data may be shared with official authorities if required.

Laura Evans is our data officer and can be contacted at Laura@evanstransport.co.uk, 01237471900 or in writing to Evans Transport Ltd, Gammaton Road, Bideford EX39 4FG